MIDD ELEVEN FINDS CLARKSON TECH EASY

Engineers No Match For Blue and White in Listless Game

"Keck" Parker and "Pepper" Ross Feature In Open Field Running

Clarkson Tech proved an easy victim for Midd Saturday in the last game of the year at Porter Field, the final score showing that Midd had accumulated 19 points while holding Clarkson scoreless.

The showing of the Midd 'Varsity on the whole was not at all impressive. After scoring two touchdowns within five minutes after the fray had started, the blue-clad warriors evidently felt content not to exert themselves any more than was tolerably necessary and thereafter put up a listless battle. The defense especially was ragged, Clarkson taking the ball on the third kick-off right down the field going through the Midd line at will and when the whistle ending the period blew the ball was on Midd's 32-yard line. With the opening of the second period however, Coach Brown sent in his second team which displayed a far stiffer defense than the regulars and soon took the ball away from the Green and Gold. The substitute's offense, however, lacked power and they were unable to score. Midd's third touchdown came in the third period when the regulars returned to the gridiron. The touchdown was the result of a pretty bit of

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS AT CHAPEL EXERCISES

Executives of Harvard and Yale Talk to Students

Pres. Faunce Leads Service In Place of Pres. Thomas

Last Friday morning at the chapel service the students had the opportunity of listening for a few moments to the presidents of some of the leading colleges of the country,—an opportunity which came as the result of the annual meeting of the New England Association of Colleges, which was held here Friday and Saturday.

After the opening hymn Dr. Thomas introduced President Faunce of Brown University, who conducted the rest of the service. President Lowell of Harvard followed with a short, straight-from-the-shoulder talk on the influence of our present selves upon our future selves, saying that what any student is and does in the world of tomorrow will depend inevitably upon a certain person with whom he associates today, —himself.

FRENCH PRESIDENT HONORS MIDDLEBURY

Two Medals For Students of French Literature and Geography

Honor Due to Fine Work of French Dept. of Summer School

Middlebury College was signally honored by the announcement received by cable Thursday that President Raymond Poincare of the French Republic has awarded medals in recognition of the distinctive work of the French Department of the Middlebury Summer Session.

The news was received by Dr. Edward D. Collins director of the Summer Session by wire from Dr. de la Jarrie, representative of the French Government in this country, who for two years has been professor of French at the Summer Session and who will return next summer. Dr. de la Jarrie's advices were direct by cable from President Poincare and told of the desire of the French government to award two medals, one of which should be conferred on the Middlebury student doing the best work in French literature, and the other on the student accomplishing the best work in the study of commercial and industrial geography of France and her colonies.

The cable announcement will undoubtedly be supplemented later by other details, but it is understood that plan of the award will be left to Prof. H. P. Willianson de Visme, dean of the French School, Prof. de la Jarrie, Dr. Collins and President Thomas.

The reputation which Middlebury, both in its summer session and regular college courses, is establishing in its foreign language department has been receiving wide recognition recently, and this latest honor from the French government will be one which will undoubterly stimulate further progress in this direction.

"JOE" LINCOLN IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Cape Cod Author Will Read From His Own Works

Has First Hand Knowledge of Fisher-folk of Massachusetts

One of the most eagerly anticipated of all the entertainments in the course will be given tonight in Mead Memorial Chapel, when Joseph C. Lincoln, the Cape Cod Humorist, will read selections from certain of his works.

Mr. Lincoln, who spent his boyhood days among the fisher-folk and retired sea-captains of the Cape, has been able to weave his first-hand knowledge into stories which have been justly popular for their delicious humor, their quaint and very real characters, and for the salt tang of the sea breezes which seem to blow through their pages.

Tonight, in addition to the stories we shall have the personality that is behind them, and a vigorous, merry, kindly personality it will prove to be. It is safe to say that whoever misses the entertainment will miss a rare treat.

Small Attendance At Ellsworth Lecture

Owing to unfavorable weather a comparatively small gathering heard the lecture, "All the Monthly Magazines" given by William Webster Ellsworth at last Wednesday's entertainment of the Winter Chautauqua course.

Mr. Ellsworth, former editor of the Century Magazine, gave many reminisences of interesting experiences and acquaintances which were his during a long connection with literary circles. He scored some of the more popular magazines for their flippant style and recommended the newspaper route to anyone desiring literary prominence. Efficiency, he asserted, is gained only through practice and the journalistic field offers vast opportunities in this regard.

Every Man on Squad in Tip-Top Shape for Vermont Game

Lineup Same as That Which Started Against Norwich; Team Confident

With a large percentage of the student body daily watching and cheering from the side lines the Big Blue team is being put through its final week of practice by Coaches Brown and Fisher. Every man on the squad is in a fighting mood and the men are showing that vital drive and energy that presages victory when they face the Green and Gold at Burlington Saturday.

Thorough drilling in the fundamentals, followed by some hard scrimmage has marked the practice sessions so far but with only two more days of practice it is likely that Coach Brown will not send his men through any more scrimmages in order to avoid injuries on the eve of the battle. The makeup of the eleven that will start at Burlington is practically certain to be the same as that which faced Norwich at Porter Field on Nov. 1. "Tony" Goode and Harry Brown will take care of the wing positions. At the tackles Coach Brown will start "Jack" Meade and "Barney" Potratz with "Red" Breen and George Keppler filling in at guard. "Rocky" Dake at center will round out the line which is as strong a group of forwards as Middlebury has ever shown. The back-

This week Friday, Nov. 21, the entire student body will be given an opportunity to back up the college band by participating in Tag Day. The college band intends to take from fifteen to twenty men to Burlington for the U. V. N. Y. Alumni Association

The New York Alumni Association, the largest branch of the Associated Alumni, has this year secured the services of an eminent specialist to inculcate a new Middlebury Spirit into the men of the Metropolitan District. Dr. George Dow Scott '95, a recognized authority in his particular branch of medical science, is now president of the Association and we are told that he is a specialist in the art of installing new life into old organizations. He is so full of "pep" and college spirit that those associated with him cannot help catching a little of his enthusiasm.

Preparations for the "Reconstruction Dinner", which the Association will hold January 23, 1920, are progressing rapidly and the Dinner will undoubtedly be one of the most successful that the Association has ever held. It has been decided to hold the event at the University Club and among the prominent speakers will be President Thomas who will speak on "Reconstruction at Middlebury" and Major General John F. O'Ryan who will deal with Reconstruction from a military viewpoint. Major O'Ryan was commander of the Twenty Seventh Division during the war and has since been appointed commander-in-chief of the New York State Guard.

It is expected that further announcements of the Dinner will be made at the Smoker which is to be held at Hotel Cumberland Saturday evening.

Keep Your Word

Is Middlebury going to have a Kaleidoscope this year? If the answer is going to be in the affirmative it means quick action on the part of every student. Briefly the situation is this. The Kaleidoscope, if we are to have one at all, is to be published the first day of Junior Week, which is to be observed this year the second week in May. But not a single further step can be taken toward getting out that year book until approximately 225 students who are not members of the Junior Class will have to pledge themselves to buy a copy of the book. To date only 153 have done so. The Board is ready for action, the publishers say that 130 photographs must be in before Christmas which means that they must begin to come in by next week.

Do you want to help block the wheels of this eminently worth-while enterprise? Of course you don't! This does not mean that we are asking Middlebury students to pay for an article which they do not want and cannot afford,—it does mean that we are asking you to keep your promise. Last Monday in Chapel nearly the wholle student body signified its intention of buying the year-book of '21. Only 153 were willing to put down in black and white the promise they were wililng to make with the crowd. Is such action exactly honorable? It does not seem so to us. Let's play this game like Middlebury men and women.

What Others Think

Open To All

Dear Editor:

Although I realize that the subject of this letter is quite outside the limits of matters which are properly the business of undergraduates, yet I beg permission for space in your columns to make public a sentiment which is widespread among the students.

No one can deny that we have enjoyed the privilege of hearing some remarkable speakers at our college vesper services this year, and we trust we are duly grateful for that privelege, but as the students leave the chapel Sunday evenings after listening to the finest of them, someone is always sure to remark, "Great, wasn't he! But aren't we ever going to hear Prexy?"

The half-semester is already passed, and with the exception of his address at the opening of the college year, we have not heard our own President speak to us on Sunday from our own college pulpit; and as a result nearly half the student body,—the freshman half, does not yet realize that in President Thomas Middlebury has a college preacher whom we would be proud to compare with any other in the country. It is not that we do not appreciate the others, but, once in awhile, We Want Prexy!

A. D. Zire

DR. BARTON WILL BE VESPER PREACHER SUNDAY

The preacher at the Vesper service Sunday will be Dr. James L. Barton '81. Dr. Barton is the senior secretary of the American Board and a trustee of the College. He has just returned from a one-year trip in Palestine where he represented the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief.

Dr. Barton has a very intimate knowledge of life and conditions in the Holy Land, being, perhaps, the greatest authority on this subject in the country. He will probably tell in his sermon of the present conditions as he found them in the near East.

PROFESSOR HOYT SPEAKS ON SLANG

Professor Prentiss C. Hoyt Ph. D., Middlebury '89, at present professor of English at Clark College and one of the representatives of that institution at the meeting of the Association of Colleges in New England held in Middlebury last week, gave a lecture before a large audience in the old chapel Friday afternoon, on the subject of Slang.

Professor Hoyt was most liberal in his views and while he deplored the more vulgar type of slang he stated that slang in its proper relation was the means of expressing new ideas caused by new conditions and represented the demand of the people for such means. He was very emphatic on the distinction between cant, the language of a class, or trade, as distinguished from true slang, and on the fact that each slang expresssion must be commended or condemned solely on its individual merit. The virile, expressive phrases which spread and last are the means of keeping our language flexible and direct. The language of Shakespeare, beautiful as it is, would no more meet our modern conditions than would sailing vessels meet the present needs of the Navy.

The speaker was witty, original, and sensible, throughout and the lecture was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.

New Midd Song Given Out at Rally

An athletic rally was held Thursday evening in the gymnasium for the purpose of cheer practice and to offer Cheer Leader Darby an opportunity to give out a new song which has been written by an anonymous alumnus. Hough '21 who was appointed at the last meeting of the undergraduate association to see to the matter of securing a special train to carry the Middlebury contingent to Burlington for the U. V. M. game November 22, reported that owing to the coal shortage he could get no definite statement from the railroad officials as to such a special, but that if it could be secured the fare for the round trip would be two dollars and twenty two cents. It will not be known until November 20 whether the special can be secured. Kasper urged everyone to do his utmost to attend the game, stating that the expense would not be the car fare alone but that the admission fee of fifty cents and other incidentals would add to the total. However, everyone should be able to attend if he really wished to, and should be in the stands encouraging the team to do its utmost to down the green-hosed warriors.

Cheer Leader Darby then gave out the new song which is to the tune of the Artillery Caisson Song and whose words are:

Over hill, over dale
Up the old Green Mountain Trail
Middlebury comes marching along!
Oh so pale! And so frail!
U. V. M. is bound to fail
As old Middlebury comes fighting along!
So fight fight fight!
Fight with all your might!
Ring out the spirit loud and long!
For where'er we go
The score will always show
That old Middlebury came fighting along!
Spoken: We want Victory!
That old Middlebury came fighting along!

The song was tried out accompanied by the jazz band and was very well liked. It is expected to make a hit at the game this week.

An important meeting of the Alchemists will be held tomorrow night at the D. K. E. house. Several talks on interesting chemical subjects will be given.

Professor Bryant (noticing raised hand during a lecture in physics): "What is it, Shelby?"

Frosh Shelby: "I was going to tell you what you wanted to say."

Sport Wrinkles

By Burgins

With the season practically over the football experts and dopesters will now essay to rank the leading elevens. But oh my, what a job they've got on their hands! The situation as regards the rightful holder of the champion's crown is more clouded than ever. Not a team of real championship calibre has avoided defeat and the outcomes of the games in general have been so contrary to all the advance dope that it is almost a practical impossibility to make a ranking that will be at all satisfactory to all concerned.

Syracuse has as valid a claim as any team in the East to titular honors. Their defeat by W. & J. can be more easily discounted than can Pitt's defeat by the Orange, Dartmouth's loss to Brown, Colgate's defeat by Syracuse or W. & J.'s defeat by Pitt.

For the first time in some years every man on the Middlebury squad was used in an intercollegiate game last Saturday. Clarkson proved so easy that Coach Brown sent into the game every man he had out there in uniform.

Saturday's game at Burlington will mark the last appearance in Middlebury moleskins for five regulars, Capt. Ross, Parker, Breen, Goode and Dake of the men who will start are to receive their sheepskins next June. A quintet of harder workers for the Blue has never sported Middlebury colors.

The "battle of the Callahans" occurred Saturday in the Yale Bowl and it surely was some fight right from the opening kickoff. Braden's kick rolled along the ground. "Mike" Callahan picked it up but he hadn't gone a yard when Brother "Tim" charged forward and tackled "Mike" fiercely. Thereafter it was a 'fare-thee-well" until "Mike" was taken out in the fourtth quarter, with first one brother and then the other on top.

Princeton's victory was a splendid achievement of brain over brawn. That brawn and sheer strength no longer rule the gridiron as in the days of yore was amply illustrated by the clash at the Bowl Saturday.

"Keck" Parker showed a pretty bit of open field running against Clarkson when he skipped and glided his way through and past half a dozen tacklers in the third period, before he was finally downed.

If there were any Vermont scouts present at Saturday's game they saw very little of Midd's stock in trade. Parker tried nothing but straight football methods throughout.

The last time Midd journeyed to Burlington to do battle with the Green and Gold in their own lair was in 1916 when "Brainy" Bower's memorable forward pass to "Tony" Goode achieved victory for the Blue and White. Midd this year has no star to compare with "Brainy" but instead a very well balanced, hard fighting team with a lot of power and vital energy and such a smooth working football machine ought to be able to more than handle anything that U. V. M. has.

Alpha Mu of Chi Psi Initiation Banquet

Alpha Mu of Chi Psi held its seventy-sixth annual Initiation Banquet last Monday evening at the Chi Psi Lodge on Weybridge St. About forty-five members were present including the following alumni: Dr. M. Mary Loughrey '23 broke her arm playing basket ball.

NEW ELIGIBILITY RULE

Dean Wiley has given out the following statement in regard to the new eligibility rule:

"Realizing the inconsistencies which have developed in the application of Attendance Rule 4 (the eligibility rule) and feeling that any injustice should be corrected at the earliest possible date, the faculty has tentatively passed an alternate rule which will be in effect during the remainder of the football season though it may be amended after that time if further investigation and consideration make it appear desirable.

"The new rule reads as follows:

"'No student will be allowed to represent the college in any athletic, musical or dramatic organization if he has failed during the previous semester to secure 12 points credit toward graduation or if the mid-semester grades show that he is not maintaining a passing grade in four courses during the current semester.

"'This rule will not be retro-active and men who have been eligible under the old rule will continue to be eligible for the remainder of the football season. Of those who have been ineligible, on the other hand, as announced after chapel Nov. 14, Keppler and Hay are eligible under the new rule and a further examination of the records reveals the fact that MacDonnell has also fulfiled the requirements.'"

D. U. Banquet

The sixty-fourth annual initiation banquet of Middlebury chapter of Delta Upsilon fraternity was held last Saturday evening in Hepburn Refectory. Besides the thirty members of the active chapter about thirty guests were present. The alumni attending were Charles Billings '86, E. J. Klock '88, P. C. Hoyt '89, E. B. Clift '90, T. H. Davis, represenntative of Amherst chapter, and Professor A. R. Davis, member of the Omega Phi fraternity of Wesleyan which is to become a Delta Upsilon chapter next month.

Judge Noonan of Buffalo was toastmaster and Professor Wright, Sargent '74, Stafford '01, Bosworth '11, Professor Cady '99, A. C. Davis of Amherst, Grant '20 and Watson '23 spoke.

Special Train to Go to Burlington

Arrangements have been completed to run the "Middlebury-Burlington Special" Saturday. The college is obliged to guarantee $277.50, which means that before Thursday one hundred and twenty-five men will have to sign the petitions which are being circulated. The success of the trip with its advantages of concentrated cheering and attendance, rests entirely with the student body. With aid from the women's side there should be no difficulty in securing many more than the minimum pledges required.

The train will leave Middlebury at 12:45 Saturday, Nov. 22. Special trolleys will be at the station at Burlington to convey the college to Centennial Field. Returning, the train will leave Burlington station at 9:00 P. M. The fare per person amounts to $2.22 round trip. Extra cars will be added as necessary to accommodate any number desirous of making the trip. It is hoped and is expected of every Middlebury man and woman to defer all auto trips to Burlington, to make this concerted attendance at the biggest game of the year, a real live factor in a big victory and celebration.

Freshman Girls' Basket Ball Tournament

A very interesting tournament is now being played off between the seven basket ball teams formed from the girls of the freshman class. Two games are played every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon at four forty-five o'clock to which the public is invited.

Each team plays every other one, making a total of six games for each team. Girls' rules are strictly enforced in all games.

The tournament is just about half over, ten games having been played up to Monday, Nov. 17th. The results thus far are as follows:

		played	won
1.	Barker	3 games	1 game
2.	Bolton	2	2
3.	Hobbs	3	2
4.	Gaylor	1	0
5.	Mc Nulty	3	1
6.	Stilphen	3	2
7.	Wells	3	0

Hobbs' team now stands in the lead having wrested the victory from every opponent encountered to date. Thus far every game has been a thriller. Come and support your favorite team.

Dr. Seerley, for over 36 years connected with the Y. M. C. A., was for 26 months engaged in active service with the U. S. Army and but recently returned from 13 months work with the American Expeditionary Forces.

"MORE BOOKS IN THE HOME"

The Library is observing with other libraries throughout the country "Children's book week".

A national campaign has been organized by the American Booksellers' Association with the cooperation of the American Library Association, in an effort to call the attention of all interested in children to the need of more and better books in the home.

There is at the Library a classified list of books carefully chosen by recognized experts in the field of children's books, and if anyone connected with the College would like to make some child the present of a book he might like to consult this list before purchasing.

From now until Thanksgiving day the Library will be glad to take orders of books from this list and will send for them immediately in the endeavor to get them here before the Christmas vacation.

The Chapel Service

Prof. Harry F. Ward of Union Theological Seminary, New York, gave the address at vesper service last Sunday. He used the two prayer petitions "Give us our daily bread" and "That all may be one even as We are one" trying to reconcile the two in every day life. He said that there are two great quests of mankind, one the practical desire for sustenance, the other the spiritual desire for fellowship and that these should go hand-in-hand according to the standards of Christ. The fact is that in the search for bread man's greed defeats true fellowship. When these two forces are recognized as dependent upon each other all economic problems will be solved and we shall be one with each other and with God.

open field running contributed by "Keck" Parker who slipped through the Engineers' defense for 40 yards before he was tackled on the two-yard line from which point Gollnick shot through center for the last score.

Clarkson kicked off to Middlebury, Brown running the ball back to midfield before he was finally brought to earth. In less than half a dozen plays, the Midd backfield had smashed its way to Clarkson's one-yard line where Parker took the ball over the goal-line through center. He missed the goal from touchdown, the ball striking one of the posts and bounding back onto the field. Parker kicked off for Middlebury, Bowman running the ball back to his own 20-yard line. Drost intercepted a long forward pass and ran the ball back to Clarkson's 35-yard line. Parker went through tackle for a yard and on the next play Ross skirted left end for a beautiful run taking the ball to within a few inches of the Clarkson goal. In the next play he went over for a touchdown and Parker kicked the goal. With the score 13 to 0 the Blue and White seemed satisfied to rest on its laurels for after Parker kicked off again to Bowman, Clarkson started on its march down the field. Finding the line apparently offering little opposition, the Clarkson backs smashed through at will and aided by a pretty forward pass, the Engineers rapidly took the ball down the gridiron. Once Tony Goode broke through and nailed the Clarkson quarterback about 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage but despite this temporary loss the Green and Gold ripped off three first downs in a row. With the ball on Midd's 32-yard line the period closed.

The second period found the Midd second team in the fray and the youngsters fought hard holding the Clarkson backfield rather easily. Leonard intercepted a long forward pass and carried the ball back to Midd's 45-yard line but the offensive of the second-string men lacked drive and the ball seasawed about the center of the field during the remainder of the half.

The regulars trotted out on the field to open the third period but their play seemed listless. The only redeeming features were the open field running of Parker and Ross. With the ball on Clarkson's 42-yard line "Keck" got away for a pretty run sidestepping and straighthanding his way through a mass of Green and Gold tacklers until he was finally brought down on Clarkson's two-yard line. Gollnick went through center on the next play for the third touchdown. Parker's try for goal from touchdown went wide of the goal posts. Middlebury was unable to cross the Clarkson goal line again although play for the rest of the period was almost entirely in Green and Gold territory.

The fourth period found the substitutes again in the fray and substitutions during the last period were frequent, every man on the Middlebury bench being used during some part of the game. Neither side had any decided advantage during this period, the game ending with the ball in Midd's possession on the Blue and White's 47-yard line. The summary:

field will find "Keck" Parker yelling signals at quarter, "Eddie" Drost and "Pepper" Ross at the halves and "Al" Gollnick at fullback. McDonald is also likely to get into the fray during the contest.

Comparative scores thus far would seem to favor the Blue and White. Vermont started off like a whirlwind snowing Clarkson Tech under by a 41 to 2 score and then holding the powerful Syracuse team to a score of 27 to 0. The following week they met defeat at the hands of Columbia by a score of 7 to 0. New Hampshire State and M. A. C. both found the Green and Gold comparatively easy but they recovered sufficiently to vanquish Hamilton. The next week they tackled Norwich which team had lost to Middlebury the week before and went down to defeat by a score of 13 to 0. Last Saturday Vermont defeated N. Y. Aggies at Ebbetts Field.

Middlebury's record thus far is a little more impressive. After holding West Point to a 14 to 0 score in the opening game the Blue and White slumped against Boston College, the conquerors of Yale, and was defeated to the tune of 25 to 0. After a week's rest Midd took St. Lawrence into camp and then vanquished the strong Norwich eleven by a margin of a field goal. The following week Coach Brown took his men to Williamstown where they play Ben Boynton et al. off their feet during the first period but finally had to taste the sting of defeat. Last Saturday's victory over Clarkson brought the season's record up to the 500 mark with this week's contest to tip the balance one way or the other.

The Blue and White players are by no means overconfident for they know that Vermont will offer some real stiff opposition but to a man they feel that they are every bit as good a football team as anything that Coach Edmunds can trot out in moleskins up at Burlington and it is this confidence and a conviction to fight as all Midd teams do, especially against Vermont, that is bound to give Middlebury men the opportunity to snake dance their way around Centennial Field once again.

PERFECT WEATHER GREETS PRESIDENTS

Clark University, and Professor Hoyt of Clark College. The first session of the Conference was held in the social hall of Hepburn on Friday evening, preceded by a dinner at Hepburn Commons; the second and final session was on Saturday morning. At both sessions President Thomas presided and Professor Wright served as secretary. About half or more of the list, as previously printed, of topics suggested for discussion engaged the attention of the Conference.

The Saturday morning session was suspended for thirty minutes to permit attendance at the chapel service. This was conducted by President Faunce of Brown, and brief addresses were made by Presidents Lowell and Hadley. The music of the service was impressive, the hymns being "How Firm a Foundation" and "America the Beautiful", and the organ voluntary Handel's "Largo". The meetings were of great interest and profit throughout, the perfect weather adding much to the enjoyment of the distinguished guests. Wesleyan will be the entertaining college for the sessions of 1920.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. last week was led by Pauline Locklin. It was at this meeting that the freshmen were welcomed and recognized as members. In view of this fact, the leader explained the work and purpose of the organization. The chairman of the several committees spoke briefly of their work,—what they had done and what they expected to do. Prudence Fish rendered a very pleasing solo.

A RESERVATION

Thursday Evening, December 4

All men of the college interested in organizing for the purpose of broadening their religious outlook and crystalizing their religious thought are invited to attend a meeting to be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 4. At this meeting, Professor Perkins will open discussion on the topic "Why Believe in God?" If you are interested in clarifying your own religious views and hearing what others are thinking on matters of religion, remember the date and the place:—Thursday, Dec. 4, in the Old Chapel.

Blue and Gold toques of latest design were chosen as the official 1922 class hat at a meeting held last Friday afternoon. The toques are being ordered from a New England concern and will probably arrive about Thanksgiving Day.

News From The Other Colleges

A recent straw ballot at Princeton showed 542 for the "League of Nations" with reservations, 298 for absolute acceptance, and 120 for rejection.

At Tufts, the senior honorary body, Tower Cross, has declared the Sophomore elections illegal and has taken measures to prevent repetition of political trickery and fraternity agreements. It was charged and admitted that prior to the '22 elections, groups in college had agreed among themselves on a common ticket made up of none but members of the groups concerned. Tower Cross has deplored these conditions as undermining true Tufts spirit.
